SAVED BY SPASMS.

The Experience of a Young Doctor in the Country.

"Talking about physis," said an ex-doctor, "reminds me of an incident that occurred during my practice, when I was new in the cause, and which, when you hear, you will readily recognize as an important epoch in my professional career. It was in a country town in the western part of the State. I had just arrived a few days previous, a beardless boy, with very little hope of getting a patient under two years. However, I had gone there to stay, and so had made up my mind accordingly. I hung out my shingle and prepared to go anywhere at a moment's notice.

"One morning about two o'clock I was awakened by some one shouting, 'Oh, doctor!' at my front gate. I dressed hastily and went with the stranger, who proved to be the father of a baby three days old, who, he said, was dying with spasms. Upon my arrival at the house, I was shown into the sick room. The young mother lay weeping upon the bed, and the almost lifeless form of the precious little one was being fondly nursed by an old woman, who said the child had just had another severe fit.

"I was puzzled. It was my first case, and I readily recognized that my future reputation depended on the recovery of the child, but what to do for it I knew no more than a ten-year-old boy. Finally I made up my mind, prepared some simple doses, and told the parents that the child would have no more spasms, which, of course, was guess-work. This did not satisfy them. I could see in their faces that they lacked confidence, but I was firm. My word was out, and so I stood to it, and left. The father followed me to the door and said he wanted me to come around the next day and meet his old family physician, as he thought I was too young, and the child needed medical attention from a more experienced practitioner.

"I of course agreed, but at the same time felt that my reputation was forever gone if the old doctor should come and tell them the child was really sick. I went home, but could not sleep, and as soon as breakfast was over I hurried over to see my patient.

"The father met me at the door. He looked cheerful, and gave me a hearty greeting. 'The baby is all right,' said he; and, sure enough, when I went in, the little fellow was as bright as a May morning, and my reputation was made. The parents praised me as the best baby-doctor known, and from that time on I enjoyed a splendid practice among the little ones.

"The news of my wonderful case spread for miles around, and two days afterwards I was called to see another child, some twelve miles distant. The child had been sick for several weeks, and under the treatment of an old white-haired practitioner. The father of this child informed me, while en route to his house, that I was called in because he had heard of the wonderful cure effected in the case of Mr. S's baby. This rather unnerved me, for he told me that Dr. — from an adjoining town, whom I knew to be an eminent physician, had failed to benefit the little one.

"As soon as I saw the patient, I at once detected that the angel of death was hovering near, and all earthly power would be of no avail; but still I did not at once inform the parents. They had confidence in me, and I disliked to dispel their good opinion, so I set about to prescribe for the patient, but before I had taken out my medicine the baby was attacked with a severe spasm, and its little soul took its flight to another and a better world. So you can readily see how my reputation was again saved by a spasm. Had the child lingered along and died, which it surely would have done in a day or so, they would have said I did not treat it properly.

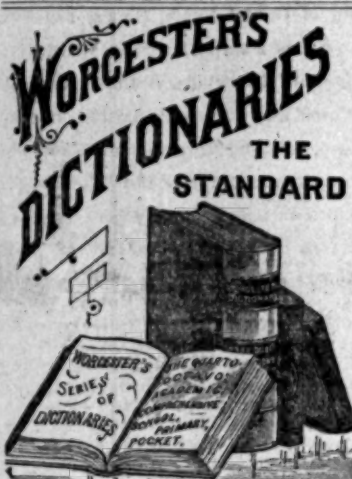

"This," continued the ex-doctor, "is simply told you to show some of the difficulties met with by young doctors when they first start out. A young professional man has a poor chance at best in this uncharitable world. The incidents just related were providential epochs in my career, and ever afterward I had a lucrative practice, until a failure of health caused me to seek a more congenial field of labor."—(Nashville Banner.

This Time in Dakota.

A recent romantic incident, the story of which comes from Dakota, reverses the usual rule. A young lady in one of the older south counties, in packing a barrel of eggs for New York, put her name and address upon one of the eggs, with the request that the finder, if eligible for matrimony, should write to her. As a sequel, a young man named Frank Nolan will become a resident of Dakota, and the young lady will not teach another school.

A drunken pariahioner was admonished by his parson. "I can go into the village," concluded the latter, "and come home again without getting drunk." "Ah! meester, but I'm as popular," was the apologetic reply.

A KIND WORD.

A recent number of Bradstreet's says: The State of Nevada was never more prosperous than at present. The influx of eastern and foreign capital has worked wonders in the way of developing vast agricultural and mining resources. The dark green fields of never-falling alfalfa, which meet the eye in every direction, over the plain at Reno, and in the various valleys along the route of the Virginia & Truckee and Carson & Colorado railroads are of sufficient proof of the fertility of the sagebrush desert under irrigation. Capital invested in either sinking for water or bringing it in from the mountain ranges which encircle the Nevada valleys will more than treble itself in a short time. The smelting and reduction works lately established at Reno by San Francisco capitalists are overrun with rebellious ores, which had formerly to be shipped at a great expense to Salt Lake or San Francisco. An eastern company propose to open a similar establishment on a larger scale, and negotiations are well advanced toward that end. They have an immense and remunerative field in which to work, as the saving in freight will in itself be enormous, which permits of very low-grade ore being worked to advantage. The various railroad companies throughout Nevada are very generously reducing the rates so as to bring these works within the reach of all.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Pennsylvania Legislature is discussing a constitutional amendment providing that the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, shall be forever prohibited, and providing also, that compensation be made for real estate used for the manufacture and sale of liquors, in such cases where values will be diminished by the adoption of the amendment. The above proposition is in accordance with the resolutions of the Republican State convention of that State.

A Texas Quake.

GALVESTON, January 6.
A special to the News from Paige, Texas, says that a slight shock of an earthquake occurred there at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, lasting two or three seconds. No serious damage was done. A wooden cistern which had been lowered into an excavation, sank four inches lower. The colored servants at the Wilson hotel were greatly alarmed. The shock was felt for miles around, and apparently passed from north to south. A few people claim to have heard a rumbling noise. The town of Paige is situated on the Houston and Texas Central railroad, 50 miles east of Austin.

Gold and Silver.

CHICAGO, January 6.
The Times' Washington special of January 3d says: Whatever danger there was some time ago that the treasury supply of gold would give out and the government would be compelled to pay out silver for bond redemption, seems now to be remote and growing more so. The gold owned by the Government now amounts to $170,912,513, a larger sum than the Government has owned previously since the resumption of specie payments, with the exception of the single month of November, 1881. The stock of gold has been growing continuously since July last in spite of the large redemption of bonds. The increase in the stock of gold for December was a trifle less than $7,000,000, and for the half fiscal year a little more than $14,000,000. At the same time the stock of silver dollars, which recently threatened to absorb everything in the Treasury, has been for some months steadily falling off, though coinage goes on without interruption.

Coal Mine on Fire.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., January 6.
A chamber in the Peerless slope portion of the Henry Clay colliery, owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Iron Company, was discovered burning this morning. The fire is increasing rapidly, and defies all efforts to get it under control. Frequent explosions are occurring. Four men were severely burned. The Henry Clay is the most extensive mine owned by the Reading Company. It employs 1,500 men. The loss cannot now be estimated.

Heavy Damage Suit.

ST. LOUIS, January 6.
John M. Woodard to-day filed a suit against the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company for $1,000,000. Woodard alleges that the above company made a contract with him, by the terms of which he was, for the sum of $15,000, to prove that the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company had forfeited all charter rights to construct and operate a railroad between Pacific Mound and St. Louis, and that it had no right of way between these two cities.

A Fatal Explosion.

YOUNGSTOWN, January 6.
A natural gas explosion at 3 o'clock this morning destroyed the new Andrews block and four other buildings. Thomas Branigan, aged 91 years, was cremated, and several others are reported missing. The Baptist church is also in ruins. The loss is over $100,000.

WESTERN DISPATCHES

Unjustifiable Warfare.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 6.
At a late hour last night the residents in the vicinity of 8th and Harrison streets were startled by a terrific explosion. The most of them had retired and being awakened from sleep, ran out in the street in their night clothing. The first impression created, was that an earthquake had shaken down the building. An investigation, however, disclosed that a dynamite cartridge had been placed in a cable slot on the Larkin street branch of the Sutter Street Railroad and exploded. The basalt rocks on each side of the slot were found to be loosened, and the masonry badly shattered. The pulleys upon which the cable runs, were also broken, and the foundation of the tunnel cracked. The window panes in the vicinity were rattled violently at the time of the explosion, and in many cases shattered. In a saloon two blocks away, a lighted lamp was thrown to the floor and nearly caused a conflagration. The iron plates of a man-hole were found 200 feet away, to which distance they were hurled. A lady living in the neighborhood, said that a few minutes before the explosion she saw two men go to the trap. One of them lifted the trap, and the other took a package from his pocket, applied a match and lowered it into the cable tunnel. The men then retreated; the explosion followed, and the witness saw the cables and machinery of the trap fly-log in all directions. Many of the awakened women and children were so afflicted with fright that they went to the homes of friends to spend the night, fearful that if they remained in their own homes, that another explosion might occur.

Chief of Police Crowley, who was seen this morning, stated that detectives had been sent out to work up the case, but had not as yet obtained any clue to the perpetrators. The Chief has placed a detail of a dozen police in the vicinity of the explosion. "The roads must be protected," he said, "I will give them all the men I can spare." No further trouble occurred to-day and the roads are all running as usual.

The Warden Fight.

CARSON, January 6.
[Special to the Gazette]
The Storey county delegation caused on the Warden to-day and was unanimous for Frank McCullough, with Corbett for Deputy. Frank Bell informs the GAZETTE that he has his fight practically won, and Hanks of Elko is equally confident.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Prussian Military Affairs.

BERLIN, January 6.
The Commission on the Army bill discussed the second reading of the measure. Herr Rickert (Progressist) moved that the strength of the army in time of peace be 450,404. Herr Heune, a member of the Centre party, moved it be 468,409, as in the bill, but that the term of operation be three years instead of seven. Both motions were rejected. Herr Koeller (Conservative) moved to restore the original draft of the second article to take effect from April 1st, the infantry to be composed of 534 battalions, the cavalry of 465 squadrons, and the field artillery of 399 batteries. The motion was rejected by 16 to 12. The article was then adopted as amended on the first reading. The third and fifth articles, repealing such provisions of the old military law as are at variance with the present bill and providing for the operation of the latter in Bavaria and Wurtemberg, passed without alteration. Heune proposed an amendment to article fourth, exempting theological students from military service. Rejected. Finally the committee reaffirmed the resolutions, by 14 to 12. The report on the bill will be prepared on Friday.

The debate on Heune's motions disclosed the fact that the Center is divided, Ballestron and Frankenstein opposing the clerical members. Koeller's motion was defeated by a combination of the Centrists and the Progressists.

Emperor William, in reply to congratulations of the Russian Kaluga regiment, of which he is the honorary Colonel, sent the following telegram: "I was not disappointed in my expectation that my faithful Kaluga regiment would remember the 80th anniversary of my entry into the army. I received with pleasure the good wishes expressed in connection with so exceptionally a jubilee. I shall preserve my attachment to the regiment until the last moment of my life."

The Official Gazette publishes the following letter from Emperor William to the Crown Prince Frederick William.

"The army knows how near it has always been to my heart, and will understand what feelings stir us at the thought of my having belonged to it for full 80 years, and of the changes undergone with me during that period. At the time of my entry into the army, I lay beaten back to the furthest confines of the kingdom, after the severest blow Prussia ever sustained, but the soldierly spirit which my glorious forefathers implanted in it, remained unbroken, and soon put forth new shoots. This was proved in those wars of liberation, the noblest remembrance of my youth. This spirit the army preserved throughout its honest labors, through a long period of peace, and its glorious deeds in recent times, shows the same spirit has been upheld in its full strength, and striven still more. I have seen many changes in the outward form of the army; generations have passed through it under my eyes, but in my inmost heart and feelings they are not changed."

A Scarcity of Grain.

The Winnemucca Silver State says: Barley commands two cents a pound in the market here at present, and is scarce at that price. Wheat is being hauled from here to Paradise to be made into flour. A year ago barley sold here for 11 cents per pound, with very little demand, and wheat was shipped by the car-load to tide-water. Barley is scarce in the valley, and farmers hold it at about two cents per pound. With grain at such figures farming ought to pay about as well as any other legitimate business, and farmers will doubtless put in large crops this season.

It is wise to provide against emergencies that are liable to arise in every family. A cold may be a dangerous thing, or not, depending upon the means at hand to combat it. In sudden attacks of cold, croup, asthma, etc., Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will prove the quickest and most effective cure, and your best friend.

Geo. Andrews, overseer of the Lowell Carpet Corporation, was for over 20 years, before his removal to Lowell, afflicted with salt rheum in its worst form. His motions actually covered more than half the surface of his body and limbs, and was entirely cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1885.

All goods at clearance prices at F. Levy & Bro's.

The sale of the English Mill property is reported off.

Isaac Barnett's dry goods auction sale will commence next Monday.

The box-sheet for to-morrow night's play indicates a full house.

The child of Eli Thompson of the Eight-mile House is reported very ill.

Horsemen everywhere recommend the use of St. Jacobs Oil just before a race.

It is difficult to understand why the Washoe Assemblymen refused to vote for Mr. Pike for Speaker.

The Board of County Commissioners will meet to-morrow to accept the new bridge and allow the bill.

So long as C. J. Brookins continues in business, neither the public school nor the State University will have to send below for their school supplies.

Many good resolutions were formed on New Year's day, among them was a determination on the part of many to buy their meats at Craig & Lieve's.

Any article to be found in a first-class grocery store can always be had at E. C. Leadbetter's. Nevada apples, cider, vegetables and fresh fish always on hand.

Nearly every evening several members of the Legislature come to Reno to enjoy such a dinner and breakfast as can always be had at the Palace restaurant.

Don't forget that J. Frazer's Virginia street market is the place to go for your roasts, steaks, chops, cutlets, corned beef and sausage. All purchases promptly put up and delivered.

Truckee Items.

The Republican says: W. J. Hill of this district has been chosen chairman of the Board of Supervisors for the year.

The Boca Ice Co. has finished putting up its crop of ice. The large house is full of merchantable ice, averaging ten inches thick.

One of the carpenters working on the new coal shed fell from a scaffold a few days ago and sustained some severe bruises about the head.

Rev. Father Moloney of Reno was here on the Sunday following Christmas and mass was said at the Catholic Church. He is a pleasant and agreeable gentleman and will make friends here. He calculates to hold services here once a month.

Free Trade.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with "Green's August Flower" and "Roeche's German Syrup," as the reduction of 30 cents per dozen, has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size. The "August Flower" for dyspepsia and liver complaint, and the "German Syrup" for cough and lung troubles, have perhaps the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size. nov30yl

"On the Rio Grande."

Speaking of the play to be produced at the Nevada Theater to-morrow night, the Virginia Foot-light says: "The entire groundwork of the play is grand. The strong and noble traits of pure women are well shown. The ex-convicts' hesitation at carrying out the abduction job, though he was famished, until he was assured the girl was willing, stood out in noble contrast with the villian of 'Mortimer,' who was indebted to the ignorance of the world for his good name."

Of Great Value.

Senator Pierce of Humboldt tells the Carson Union that the mines in Paradise District still continue to pay moderate dividends and contribute a steady quantity of bullion to the market. The new works at Reno he thinks will prove of great value to that section and conduce very highly to the development of more good mines.

An Elegant Substitute.

For oils, salts, pills and all kinds of bitter, nauseous medicines is the very agreeable liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. Recommended by leading physicians. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company, San Francisco, Cal. For sale by Wm. Pinniger, Reno, Nev.

State University.

The winter term of the State University began yesterday with a large attendance of old students and some new ones. Miss Nellie Lane and Miss Dora Bergman of Carson, and Miss Wright of Browns Station are among the new students.

LASSEN COUNTY NEWS.

The Holidays, Fine Weather and Irregular Mails.

SUSANVILLE, January 3.

Editor Gazette—The annual week of festivities is past and the town is settling down to the duties of every-day life. Rarely, if ever before was such beautiful spring-like weather enjoyed at Christmas time in this valley. During the week there was one day and two nights of warm rain, and Christmas and New Year's days were each warm and beautiful. On Christmas eve a ball was given at Peyser's Hall for the benefit of the fire company here in town. It was a grand success, over 80 tickets having been sold. The evening following, the children of the different departments of the public school here gave an entertainment in the same hall, which consisted of declamations, dialogues, singing, etc. The hall was crowded to its fullest capacity by friends and relatives of the little ones, who, one and all rendered their parts with commendable credit to themselves and teachers. On New Year's eve the Local Dramatic Club gave an entertainment in the same hall which was FILLED TO OVERFLOWING.

These entertainments, combined with the family and neighborhood gatherings at which the traditional turkey was discussed, and where the little ones exhibited, with glad faces, the presents bestowed with liberal hand by the good Santa Claus, all combined, made up a week of social enjoyment that might be envied by more favored localities. Of course with taxes just collected and money spent through the holidays, business here in town will be a little dull for a time, but with the beautiful weather now prevailing the farmers will be busy plowing their fields for the reception of the grain. If the present warm weather continues much longer there will be much hay that will have to be kept over for another season, as the grass in the hills is springing up and the wild flowers are commencing to bloom. Just now the prospects of an ice crop this winter is quite slim. The mines at the base of Diamond Mountain south of town bid fair to be permanent bullion yielding ones.

MUCH PROSPECTING.

Has been done which has developed a number of gold-bearing mines that prospect well. A ten stamp mill has been erected and is now in operation, affording employment for quite a number of miners. Game both large and small has been quite plenty in the county this winter and our local sportsmen have made some large killings. There has been some talk of connecting this place with the rest of the world, by a telegraph line. This is a much needed improvement here, and if run by mule power would be an improvement on the present facilities for obtaining information from the outside world. I do not wish to be charged with "innocuous desuetude" (whatever that may be) or "offensive partisanship" or any other Clevelandish disease, but for a month past the mails between here and Reno have partaken so much of the "pod anger times" that a general growl is heard. Where the fault lies is not generally known here, certainly not with the stage line.

CARRYING THE MAILS.

For it is generally from four to six hours ahead of schedule time, but certain it is that San Francisco and Sacramento papers are four days old when they get here, and often they do not arrive in that time, if at all. If it were not for an occasional GAZETTE that gets scattered up this way, the rest of the world could "come to an end" and business be all settled up before we up here would be able to find it out. Of course the pertinent question always asked in such cases applies in this, "what are you going to do about it?" Nothing but growl, of course. If through the "Jeffersonian simplicity" of the present administration of affairs, it takes a month to get a paper from San Francisco here, it certainly would be an accommodation to get the requisite number some time. The unexpected death of General John A. Logan was received here with expressions of regret by every one. The acts of his life are a page of the Union's history that time will never efface. The flags here were displayed at half mast in honor of his memory.

Unnecessary Misery.

Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. Hamburg Figs were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. Twenty-five cents. At all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co., proprietors, S. F.

Large Profits.

New York and Philadelphia papers complain of the people having to pay from 22 to 25 cents a pound for beef to roast that costs from two to three cents on foot in the West. They say that outside of shrinkage and railroad charges, the middle men make 50 per cent. profit.

Reno Prizes.

Fifty dollars; first five balls if makes a keno on first keno; $25 for five kenos in succession on one card; $30 for first four balls called if it makes a keno; $5 for three kenos in succession on one card. All prizes paid in cash. dec21. HOWARD & O'NEILL.

Leased Land.

E. M. Thompson has rented J. N. Evans' ranches. His father and his brother-in-law, Van Waggoner, have come out from Wisconsin and will take hold of the work of the farms.

PERSONALS.

S. T. Gage and ex-Congressman Wren went below last night.

I. N. Levy, the Winnemucca merchant, passed east this morning.

Colonel E. L. Heriot of the N. & C. R. R. returned this morning from the Bay.

Mrs. Thomas E. Haydon left last evening for San Francisco, on a visit to relatives.

Miss Carrie Blakeslee of the Humtolt House is visiting her former associates at the Bishop's school.

Mrs. S. A. Young of Hot Springs arrived last evening with her daughter Mamie, who is attending Bishop Whitaker's school for girls.

"Cold?" "Yes!" "Cure it!" "How?" "Use Red Star Cough Cure." Does so, and is happy.

From a Consumptive.

LAKEVILLE, Mass. Sept. 14, 1885. I was very sick in 1885 with consumption; had severe pain in my left side; lungs were very sore and tender; a friend told me of Alcock's Porous Plasters. I tried one out in strips, and placed it over the painful places; they gave me almost immediate relief. I continued the use of them, in connection with tonic medicines, until I was cured. I have used hundreds of them for myself and family. My husband was attacked about two weeks ago with a terrible pain in the right side. He could not breathe without crying out. I had one in the house. I applied it and he received relief. He continued to wear it a day or so, when he was well again.

A Caucus Resolution.

The caucus of the Republican members of the Nevada Legislature which nominated Hon. W. M. Stewart for United States Senator, assent the following resolution: Resolved, That we, each of us, are hereby pledged to abide by the decision of this caucus, and to vote for the nominee thereof for United States Senator at all times, both in the separate houses and in joint convention, and that no person shall participate in this caucus who does not regard himself as bound by this resolution.

Indian Claims.

Messrs. C. H. Stoddard and C. S. Young of Carson are agents for the collection of claims against the Government for Indian depredations committed in early days in Lander and Humboldt counties. Already they have for collection claims amounting to a great many thousands of dollars, and during the latter part of the present month Mr. Young will go to Washington, to represent the claimants. Some of these claims have been standing for over 20 years.

MURRAY DUNHAM.

An Unrepentant Murderer.

On Friday morning, December 31st, Edward Crutchley was hanged at Hamilton, White Pine county. Deceased was 70 years of age. Before the drop fell he said he was glad that he killed John Howlett, for whose murder in April last he was to suffer death. He said he would kill Howlett if he were alive to-day under the same circumstances which led him to commit the homicide. Crutchley was the first man publicly executed for murder in White Pine county.

Washoe Nursery.

The Carson Index says: R. P. M. Kelly, proprietor of the Washoe Nursery at Reno, has issued his annual price list for 1887 in neat pamphlet form for the benefit of those who intend to plant trees or shrubs of any kind. It will be sent free upon application. Mr. Kelly has every variety of fruit and ornamental trees that will thrive in Nevada or California. Get the book; buy a lot of vigorous young trees and beautify your homes.

Notice!

Manning & Jacques have been commissioned by the Reno Gas Co. as a competent firm to do their gas-fitting, and the company would recommend parties having work of the above character to do, to employ only the best workman, thereby saving much annoyance and expense. MISCELLANEOUS

A Safeguard.

The fatal rapidity with which slight colds and coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should compel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing else gives such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of the chest. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetzer, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other anodyne expectorant so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs."

The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. L. J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice of medicine, any preparation so great as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is more effective than anything else in relieving even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral
Is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but a medicine which is to-day saving the lives of the third generation who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.

There is not a household in which this invaluable remedy has once been introduced where its use has ever been abandoned, and there is not a person who has ever given it a proper trial for cough or lung disease, susceptible of cure, who has not been made well by it.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has, in numerous instances, cured obstinate cases of chronic Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and even acute Pneumonia, and has saved many patients in the earlier stages of Pulmonary Consumption. It is a medicine that only requires to be taken in small doses, is pleasant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as there is nothing so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of Croup and Whooping Cough.

These are all plain facts, which can be verified by anybody, and should be remembered by everybody.

A QUEER COMMUNITY.

A Body of Christians Who Have $75,000,000 to Leave the State.

There has always been centered about the sect of Harmonists a halo of interest, because of their peculiarities and exclusive tendencies. The founder of this rich colony, located at this romantically situated place, on the banks of the Beaver River, was George Bay, who was born in Wurtemberg, in 1770. Believing he had a divine call, and was charged with the restoration of the Christian religion to its original purity, he organized a colony on the model of the primitive Church, with goods and chattels in common. This soon involved him and his followers in trouble with the Government, and compelled him to transplant the community, in 1803, to the United States. They settled first on the Connequenessing Creek, in Butler County, where they founded the village of Harmony, and employed themselves in agriculture and manufacture.

By industry and thrift they acquired considerable wealth, and in 1815 they removed in a body to Indiana, where they purchased and located upon 27,000 acres of land along the banks of the Wabash River. The settlement of New Harmony was even more prosperous than the first had been, but the climate was not satisfactory, and in 1824, after numerous councils, they sold out and returned to Pennsylvania, locating in Beaver County, on the right bank of the Ohio River, where they purchased 3,500 acres of beautiful and fertile farming lands, and where they soon afterwards laid out the town of Economy. Here is where they are located at present, surrounded by peace and plenty.

They are a strange people, not believing in marriage, but all living together as brothers and sisters, and practice the strictest morality. In 1822 the question of marriage was the leading one in the community, and about 200 members withdrew because they favored marriages, and established the town of Phillipsburg. But the new colony did not prosper, and after a few years of struggling they sold out and disbanded, dividing the proceeds of their sales equally among all the members. In the meantime the Harmonists were gradually becoming more and more wealthy, until at present they own jointly and in common, lands, stocks, bonds, and herds, the value of which is estimated at $75,000,000. Besides owning all of Economy and a large part of Beaver, they own an entire county in Dakota, in the valley of the Red River of the North.

Out of their surplus money they built and equipped the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, running through a rich and fertile country from Pittsburgh to Youngstown, Ohio, and owned the controlling interest in it until the road was sold to the Vanderbilts. It is said that on this deal alone they realized 75 per cent on their investment, as the road turned out to be the best-paying line in the country. It is a matter of history that at the time the war broke out, in 1861, they converted all their bonds and available property into money and buried it, using the treasure afterward in paying for the building of the railroad. The payments thus made put in circulation an immense amount of silver, many of the pieces dating back to 1800.

Owing to the law prohibiting marriage, the sect has gradually diminished, until at present it consists of only 13 men and 40 women, all of them well advanced in years. They employ over 300 servants and farm hands, and these, with their families, make quite a village. Everything is in common. The grocer, the baker, the butcher, and the milkman go the rounds every day and supply the different families with the necessities and a few of the luxuries of life. Nothing can be purchased in the village of Economy, and it is probably the only town in the world where a man cannot, even if he desires, spend money. They are extremely liberal and philanthropic, and are constantly performing acts of benevolence. Their houses, which are exactly alike, are of equal distance apart, and are at a uniform distance from the village street. They are painted pure white, and have no front doors, it being claimed that if they had these conveniences the women folks would spend too much time looking at and gossiping with passers-by.

A good story is related in this connection, to the effect that the President of the community, a score of years ago, imagined that there was too much familiarity between the young men and maidens, and so promulgated an order that all females appearing on the streets after dark must carry lanterns; but still the merry-making continued, although no lanterns appeared. This caused an investigation, which developed the fact that the worthy old gentleman had neglected to direct that the lanterns should be lighted. It is likely that the law against celibacy will cause the extermination of this colony in a few years. According to their laws, as long as three of them hold together the property is to remain intact, but, when one of the final trio dies, the other two lose all right to the property and must leave. As there are no heirs, the $75,000,000, which they possess in real and personal property, will come into the possession of the State of Pennsylvania, and will form a handsome legacy.—(Economy (Penn.) A lady with her head bandaged in a handkerchief rushes into a dentist's office and exclaims:—
"Doctor, I can't stand it any longer. These false teeth you made cause me the most terrible agony."
"Well, madame, what would you have? I could not imitate nature any better."
